TREES are one of the world's greatest sustainable resources. Solid wood has the smallest environmental impact than any other material used to manufacture furniture. Most furniture today is MDF composite which drastically increases the environmental foot print. Composites off-gas in your home and overtime create an unhealthy living environment.

Armoires Etc. searches the world market for fine solid wood and 100% wood furniture. Some of the wood species you'll find here:
Ash ▪ Pacific West Alder ▪ American Cherry ▪ Maple ▪ Mahogany ▪ Oak ▪ Quartersawn Oak ▪ Walnut

Think Your Home Is Well Insulated? THINK AGAIN!

INSULADD insulating house paints, roof coatings and paint additives can reduce a home's heating and cooling costs by over 30%. Winter or summer, inside or out, INSULADD radiant barrier paints and insulating paint additives never stop working.

Add insulating power to your paint!

Painting with anything less just doesn't make sense!

Save Energy and Insulate Your Home with Insulating Paint!

I painted my ceilings with Insuladd® and have reduced my heating bills by 18%.

Insuladd® insulating additive for paint is an outgrowth of the special ceramic technology that NASA developed for the Space Shuttle.

Insuladd® is a paint additive that you mix in with ordinary house paint to insulate and reflect heat from your home during warm months and to keep heat in during the cold months. It's an insulating paint additive specifically designed for interior house paint when used inside your home and exterior house paint when used outside of your home.

Insuladd® insulating additive for paint does not change the appearance of paint, only the way it reflects heat. Insuladd® insulating paints and additives are simple, affordable and highly effective and will work for you winter or summer, year after year!

Insuladd® will save you money on your heating and cooling bills by turning home paint surfaces into home insulation. It turns ordinary home paint into thermal paint on walls and ceilings because it becomes a reflecting radiant barrier.

IT KEEPS THE ELEMENTS OUT AND MORE MONEY IN YOUR POCKET!

Simply mix Insuladd® into all home paint; exterior house paint or interior house paint.

Here's what we mean:

The average wood-frame home has a measured exterior R-Value of only R-9.6, even with fiberglass insulation with an R-11 in between walls and ceilings.

The average cement block home has an exterior R-Value of between R-3.6 and R-8.6.

By adding Insuladd® insulating paint to two coats of regular home paint, the walls of your home will have a 50 percent increase in the effective R-Value in your home. That's a 50 percent increase to the resistance of heat! Approximately 75% of heat loss from a typical home is through the ceilings. Reduce that heat loss by painting Insuladd® on the ceilings.

For more information on Insuladd®, visit www.theenergyshack.com or call 203-470-2188.

The Ultimate Backyard Can Keep A Family Healthy, Wealthy and Wise

By Coach Mike

Homeowners are catching on to the benefits of having a complete, fully furnishedbackyard. A fully furnished backyard???" "What on earth is that?" you might ask with a raised eyebrow. In days of old, you never heard the words "fully furnished" and "backyard" together in the same sentence. As a matter of fact, until recently, the backyard was a secondary consideration for most home buyers.

Well, these days, the paradigm is shifting and while shopping, potential homebuyers have been known to walk to the back of the house first and check out the backyard even before entering the house itself. With today's families growing more and more active and health conscious, a backyard that entices all family members to get up off the couch, put down the TV remote and video game controller, and head to the backyard is a rapidly growing trend.

Picture this if you will: Rather than getting up on a Saturday morning and loading up the car with towels, frisbees, chairs, and basketballs, then getting the kids ready, packing food, filling up the car with gas (Oy those gas prices...!!!) and heading out to the park for some family fun and activities, you wake up, stretch, yawn, scratch....and open the back door to find a complete park-like setting in your own backyard!!!! Or how about this...rather than coming home after work and sitting on the couch watching a reality show, you head outside and run through a game of 2 on 2 basketball, pickleball or tennis with your spouse and kids. Sounds like a little bit of heaven, don't you think??

Many homeowners are now making this dream a reality. Never has the time been better to add a pool, patio and multi-sport court to your home. Think of the advantages:

Health: A day filled with swimming, basketball, rollerhockey, badmitten, tennis, skateboarding, and the list goes on and on, is the best way to keep your entire family active and healthy. Many homeowners even turn their multi sport courts into an ice rink in the winter....the possibilities are endless!!

Wealth: An ultimate backyard is not only an investment in yourself, but it is an investment in your home which will come back to you tenfold when the time comes to sell your house.

Wise: With today's low interest rates, never has there been a better time to transition your backyard from boring to bountiful.

You owe it to yourself and your family. Once your backyard is complete and you stand over your compete athletic empire, the only question you'll ask is "Why didn't I do this sooner...?"

Kitchen & Bath Remodeling Tips

There are many reasons to embark on a home remodeling project – lack of space, organization and comfort being some of the most compelling. The opportunity to add to a home's value by updating the style and the systems is driving many homeowners to take the remodeling plunge.

“Knowing the best way to approach a project and the right company to complete it, will make the difference between a joyful experience and a stressful disaster,” says Jim Bodner, owner of DreamMaker Bath & Kitchen in Bethel, CT.

Here are some hot tips to jumpstart your next remodeling project:

General

- Pick a style that suits and reflects your individual personality.
- Study the space in the room to be remodeled. Consider various arrangements for furniture, appliances and accessories to get the best idea of how to use the area.
- Design for both comfort and safety. Who will be frequenting the space? Products like helpful railings, seats or grab bars in shower enclosures are available in a variety of styles, finishes and colors. They can be used in attractive ways while providing a vital function.

- Determine the amount of light - too much or too little affects the ambience of the room. Experiment with different voltage and types of light bulbs, highlight different pieces of art, or shade areas that are not a focal point.

- Expand the look and feel of your space by using mirrors in your design.
- Create a point of interest in every room to give guests a feature to draw them into the space. Remember, less is sometimes more. Simplicity can equal a well designed room.

Kitchen

- Color is a key element. Choose three to four colors (including the cabinets, countertops, flooring and walls). Less than three isn't interesting enough and more than four makes the space too busy.

Bathroom

- Small additions make an enormous difference. Add a seat or hand-held shower spray. Consider furniture-styled cabinets to give a custom look as opposed to traditional cabinets. These simple pleasures make bathing more convenient and relaxing.

Laundry Rooms

Laundry rooms need surface space. A built-in countertop over the washer and dryer, or a hinged countertop on an available wall, eases this daily chore and enhances the area.

Foods and Household Items That Can Be Toxic to Your Pets

People love to pamper their pets and one way they do so is through the treats they bestow.

Many pet owners have become wise to the potential fillers, preservatives and generally unhealthy ingredients in some of the commercially produced pet foods. They may turn to natural or home-cooked foods to nourish their pet instead. But not all foods that people eat are safe for pets; some can be quite toxic. And other common items around the house can be lethal as well.

Everything from food to over-the-counter medication to plants may be toxic, and it's best to be aware.

Foods

Alcoholic Beverages: In addition to becoming intoxicated, alcohol can cause coma and death in some pets.

Apple Seeds: These and other fruit seeds/pits can cause various reactions, including trouble breathing. Plus, hard, small pits may be a choking hazard.

Caffeine: Coffee, tea and grounds which have caffeine should not be consumed by pets because they can affect the nervous system.

Chocolate: Many people have heard that chocolate is a no-no for dogs and cats. That's because it contains theobromine, which can cause gastrointestinal problems in moderate cases, or coma and death in severe instances. Milk chocolate contains less theobromine than semi-sweet or bakers' varieties, but all cocoa-containing products should be avoided.

Garlic and Onions: Both of these popular seasonings are toxic to pets at high doses, onions more so than garlic. They can do damage in both powder and fresh forms. Both contain sulfoxides and disulfides, which can damage red blood cells and lead to anemia. Baby foods and some pet gravy products contain these seasonings, and they're best avoided to be safe.

Grapes and Raisins: Even relatively small amounts of these fruits can cause kidney problems in dogs and cats and lead to upset stomachs.

Macadamia Nuts: These can cause vomiting, lethargy, abdominal pain, stiff joints, lameness and tremors.

Salt: In high quantities salt can cause electrolyte imbalances.

Tomato Stems and Leaves: The digestive, urinary and nervous systems may be affected by these. Keep dogs and cats away from backyard vegetable gardens where tomatoes are growing.

Drugs

Do not give a pet medicine prescribed for a human unless explicitly advised by a veterinarian. Some common pain relievers can prove fatal for pets.

Ibuprofen, Acetaminophen, and Paracetamol: These over-the-counter painkillers are extremely toxic to dogs and cats. As little as one tablet of ibuprofen can cause gastric ulceration, liver damage, kidney failure and death. It is the most common cause of poisoning in pets. Paracetamol produces toxic byproducts as it is used by the body. Pets cannot break these toxins down and so they quickly become poisoned by them. Acetaminophen is also very toxic in relatively small doses.

Cannabis: This recreational drug can cause overexcitement, drooling and increased sweating.

Permethrin Flea Treatment: Common poisoning occurs when the dog variety of the treatment sold at supermarkets and pet shops is inadvertently used on a cat. Affected cats become overexcited, have fits and fall into a coma. They can recover if treatment is administered quickly.

Frontline®: This common flea/tick treatment for dogs and cats can prove fatal if used on a rabbit.

Pest Control

Moth Balls: They contain an insecticide that causes central nervous system excitement and seizures. When ingested, metabolism of moth balls can lead to liver failure.

Rat Poison (warfarin): This is either consumed directly, or by a pet consuming or biting a rodent that was killed by the product. Ingestion of the poison will prevent a pet's blood from clotting and he or she can bleed to death.

Slug Bait (metaldehyde): These blue tablets attract dogs for some reason and can cause seizures and coma in canines. Keep dogs away from garden treatment areas.

Other Household Chemicals

Antifreeze: The sweet smell and taste of antifreeze attracts pets. If ingested, antifreeze (ethylene glycol) forms crystals in the kidney rapidly causing kidney failure and death. Safer varieties are now available.

Batteries: Watch or other alkaline batteries can eat holes through the stomach lining.

Fabric Softener, Detergent, Bleach: These laundry staples are all toxic to pets, especially dogs. Fabric softeners fall into the highly toxic category. Signs of toxicity include vomiting, lethargy, burns to the mouth, drooling, muscle weakness, and even coma.

If you think your pet may have ingested or come in contact with something poisonous, consult with a vet immediately. Inducing vomiting is not always the prescribed remedy, so play it safe.

The Benefit Of Granite Countertops

Whether you are building a new home or updating an existing kitchen, bathroom or hearth, granite can add beauty, style and elegance. When shopping for countertop materials, consider the benefits associated with granite.

Granite is affordable. Each and every stone is unique. Sunlight bounces off the small crystals in the granite changing the appearance of your countertop throughout the day.

Granite offers hundreds of color choices and the color goes all the way through.

Cleanup is simple. Soap and water is all you will need. And because granite is a sanitary countertop material, it does not harbor bacteria.

Granite is kid friendly. With minimal maintenance it should last a lifetime.

The cool surface temperature of a granite countertop is perfect for rolling out candy or dough.

Granite can be shaped to fit your design tastes. It can have arches, curves and even 90 degree angles.

When doing a kitchen or bathroom, you can choose from many sink styles and options. Farm sinks, vessel sinks, undermount sinks and drop in sinks all go well with granite.

Granite countertops can add value to your home.

Douro Granite & Marble, LLC is a family owned business utilizing advanced up-to-date equipment and a professional hard working team. We are able to accomplish any project that you can dream of quickly, accurately and efficiently.
